What's with the light, Theia?
The stairs are counting my steps, and I can't remember when I watered the plants.
In a temporary fix, my skin turned bleak and dissolved into elsewhere.
Pale white sky white…

You might be surprised that the lower rim of the window is at 210 centimetres – not exactly a window to the world.

